THREE CHIEFS OF POLICE NOW

Mayor Appoints Safer Fisher as Department Head

HARGROVE SEEKS RELEASE

Roush Gives Orders to Patrolmen at Roll Call

Lima's record for police chiefs acting at the same time was given another boost Friday morning, bringing the total number up to three, when Mayor F. A. Burkhardt told Safety Director Fred Fisher that he should act as chief of police until further notice.

Friday morning O. J. Roush who was suspended by Mayor Burkhardt and reinstated by the civil service commission; Jesse Hargrove, who was appointed to fill his place, by the Mayor; and the Safety Director could all lay claim to the title of chief of police.

However—

Roush has the keys to the office and the combination of the safe in his possession and is actively running the department. He directed a raid Thursday night.

HARGROVE SEEKS RELEASE

Hargrove was searching for the mayor or anyone that would release him of his responsibility. He said he did not want to be the goat any longer.

"I want a written order from the Mayor releasing me from my responsibility," he said. "I don't know what to do." He said he was not decided whether to go back on his beat Friday night, but said he felt like resigning.

Safety Director Fisher was not interfering with Roush and said he was merely "following the Mayor's orders."

Mayor Burkhardt left the city Friday morning to attend a funeral at Cudersdorf shortly after appointing Fisher acting chief. He was not to return until Friday afternoon.

"Major Burkhardt told me Friday morning that since Roush is in possession of police headquarters that I should be acting chief of police and see that everything is properly taken care of until further notice," Safety Director Fisher said Friday morning.

ROUSH GIVES ORDERS

"I am still Chief of Police," said Roush.

Accompanied by S. W. Durbin, member of his municipal civil service commission, Roush appeared before the night force at roll call Thursday evening and told them that he was the chief; that the commission is backing him; that the police ate to take orders from no one but him, or officers under him and that failure to do so or the taking of orders from any one else would cause their suspension.

"Go out and clean up everything as usual. Hit the ball," he told them.

Civil service commissioners said Friday morning that as long as the mayor did not interfere with Roush he would take no action but should be attempt to oust him they will prefer charges against him before the Governor or have him arrested for interfering with the commission.

"This is all just a cold-blooded proposition of law with me," said City Solicitor Garling Friday morning. "I don't think the commission has jurisdiction in the matter or had any right to hear Roush's appeal. There is no precedent to the case that I can find and I want to test the matter out. I will appeal the case to common pleas court to find out," he said.

TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT

"As far as the commission threatening the mayor or the mayor attempting to oust the commissioners that is all a tempest in a teapot and of no interest to me," Garling said.

From the civil service commission's order of reinstatement of Roush will be filed in common pleas court as soon as a transcript is prepared, according to Garling.

Garling holds that the notice of the filing of an appeal holds up the commission's order until a ruling is made by common pleas court. The commissioners say that the reinstatement order handed down by them after the hearing in council chambers Thursday morning, went into effect immediately and remains in effect until the court's rule otherwise.

FRENCH WOMAN LOSES LOTTERY WEALTH

PARIS—Sudden wealth won for Mme. Hofer, a woman employed as a servant in a "bar, who in 1905 drew the winning ticket, worth $160,000, in the French Press Lottery.

She became for a time a character of national note, bought a house and a carriage, employed ten servants and lent money right and left to friends and other applicants. In six months she had only $32,000 of her fortune.

This she has lost in speculation in connection with which she has brought an action against her lawyer.

9 Convicted Leaders Jump Bonds, Flee to Parts Unknown

THREE BELIEVED IN RUSSIA

Others At Liberty Hiding in This Country

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press) The real leaders in the group of Industrial Workers of the World convicted for anti-government war-time conspiracies, have jumped their bond and now are believed to be furthering revolutionary ideas, federal officials said today after a final check-up of the 47 men who were to report to the Leavenworth, Kansas, penitentiary following the refusal of the United States supreme court to review their cases.

Nine convicted men are at liberty, the others either having reached the penitentiary or being on their way, it was said. Only one of the conspiracy chiefs is behind the bars, however, the others at Leavenworth being termed "small fry," or men who happened to get in the way of the government war-time dragnet.

Of the nine who are free six are looked as chief instigators of the anti-war activities. Three of these are believed to be holding "cabinet" positions in the Russian Soviet government and three are believed to be in this country. Two of the remaining three who have not surrendered are expected to give up within a few days. The other, not considered by the government to be of much importance is looked on as "permanently missing."

The six, Haywood, Lossie, Rothfus, Andrychukine, Jakkola and Lauka, were the men who actually organized I. W. W. anti-war activists, according to Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney.

Patrick J. Brennan, chief of the local department of justice, said he was "prepared for trouble" Sunday but did not expect it here.

A parade is scheduled, but Chief of Police Fitzmorris has banned the red flag, the permitting the carrying of Soviet slogans.

Circulants advocating overthrow of the government and a May-day revolution were distributed in Aurora, Ill., yesterday Wednesday night, and in Gary, Ind., last night.

FINAL PARLEY ON TO AVERT STRIKE

Seamen and Ship Owners Meet at Washington

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press) Called together by Chairman Benson of the shipping board in a final effort to avert a strike of marine workers May 1, representatives of the workers and of the owners and operators of American steamships were here today to act on the board's proposal for a 15 per cent reduction in wages.

The proposed wage cut, which was offered by the chairman at a similar conference here Wednesday as a basis for negotiating a working agreement between owners and employees to replace the one expiring May 1, was flatly rejected by W. S. Brown, who charges his son, Wilborn, 16, a high school student, was shot by Poppe. He alleges that his son, with other boys, threw snowballs at telegraph poles on the night of February 22, one striking a machine in which Poppe was passing.

The suit charges the automobile came back and Poppe pursued the boy, firing a shot which struck young Ironmonger in the back. For weeks the boy lay at the point of death.

Poppe was arrested by police next day, after the youth told of his assailant wearing a badge.

A fine of $1,000 is proposed for a violation of the law.

GERMANY AWAITS BIDDING OF U.S.

Will Make New Indemnity Offer If Washington Asks

ALLIES HALT FOR THIS MOVE

Won't Invade Till Berlin Has Time to Act

LONDON—(By Associated Press) French occupation of the Ruhr district of Germany, it appears, will not begin as soon as was expected early this week. Details of the plans formulated by Marshal Foch and his subordinates will be discussed tomorrow by the supreme allied council, but it appears probable here today that the march into Germany's richest coal and industrial region, if ordered, would not be initiated until late next week.

PREMIERS TO CONFER

Germany's reparations proposals will not be formally discussed at Saturday's meeting of the supreme council, it was indicated here today.

Premier Briand, reinforced in his opposition to the acceptability of the German terms by a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies and the sentiment of France, had an engagement to confer with Prime Minister Lloyd-George immediately after his arrival here from Paris, and it seemed probable an informal meeting of allied representatives might be held during the day.

NEW OFFER PROBABLE

Advices from Berlin have reflected a readiness on the part of the German government to make new proposals in place of those sent to Washington for possible dispatch to the allies. The framing of these new terms was said to be conditioned upon suggestions to that effect being received in Berlin from Washington, but nothing to indicate a decision along these lines by the United States government had, so far as known, reached London this morning. It was not improbable, it was asserted, that the Fehrenbach administration would make at least one more attempt to avert military occupation of the Ruhr district by the French.

COUNCIL MEETING

As matters stood today, the subjects to be considered at tomorrow's meeting will be details of the French plan for an invasion of the Ruhr region, and the delineation of the frontier between Poland and Germany in Upper Silesia. The report on the result of the Silesian plebiscite is in the hands of the allied chiefs, but has not as yet been made public.

France, Belgium and Great Britain appeared today to be united in opposition to acceptance of the German proposals as basis of discussions of new negotiations. Italy's viewpoint has not been learned.

Of the nine who are free six are looked as chief instigators of the anti-war activities. Three of these are believed to be holding "cabinet" positions in the Russian Soviet government and three are believed to be in this country. Two of the remaining three who have not surrendered are expected to give up within a few days. The other, not considered by the government to be of much importance is looked on as "permanently missing."

DRY AGENT SUED

Accused of Shooting Cincinnati Boy—$20,000 Demanded

CINCINNATI—(By United Press) Lawrence Poppe, federal prohibition agent, is being sued for $20,000 damages by Ben Ironmonger, who charges his son, Wilborn, 16, a high school student, was shot by Poppe. He alleges that his son, with other boys, threw snowballs at telegraph poles on the night of February 22, one striking a machine in which Poppe was passing.

PROTECTION OF BEES SOUGHT IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, Hawaii—If you keep bees in Honolulu you must provide them with sustenance and comfort to which, as bees, they are naturally accustomed, according to a bill which has been introduced in the Territorial Legislature of Hawaii. The bill is designed for the purpose of prohibiting "aparies" in districts where there is no natural food for the bees, compelling them to invade the property of others for their sustenance.

YOUTHS SEIZE FILMS, TAKE OVER THEATRE, START MOVIE BUSINESS

CHICAGO—Three small boys, their plans of careers as moving picture house managers suddenly interrupted, were held today by police, while the hopes of several hundred children of witnessing screen dramas at greatly reduced prices likewise were brought to an abrupt termination.

The youths, aged 13, 12 and 11 years, had gained entrance to a neighborhood theatre which was closed for remodeling, according to the police, broke open a drawer containing films and then opened the house for business, charging two cents admission. Saveable boys were employed as musicians.

Two policemen passing the place last night, hearing music from the interior, investigated and found a large number of youthful spectators enjoying the program.

Rail Union Chief Boosting Plumb Plan, Dunn Says

CALLS CHARGES PROPAGANDA

Declares Roads Must Cut Wages of Face Disaster

CHICAGO—(By United Press) Twenty per cent reduction in all operating expenses, including wages, is necessary to put American railroads "on their feet" and make possible a substantial decrease in freight and passenger rates.

MUST EARN $500,000,000

Samuel O. Dunn, editor of Railway Age, and an advisor to the Association of Railway Executives, made this statement to the United Press today.

Dunn, who speaks officially for the American railroads, characterized the charge of W. Jett Lauck, American Federation of Labor economist, that the railroads are wasting a billion dollars a year by mismanagement, as "pure propaganda to discredit private management and boost the Plumb plan.

NOT EARN $500,000,000

"There should be a reduction in operating expenses of 20 per cent or $1,200,000,000 a year," declared Dunn, "but it is preposterous to contend that such a saving could be effected without reducing the payroll. Every item of expense should be cut."

Dunn declared it will require a saving of $400,000,000 to $500,000,- 000 annually to enable railroads to a whole to earn an annual per cent without which they cannot secure capital to make necessary improvement.

"The remaining $800,000,000 of the 20 per cent saving, should be used to effect an equivalent reduction in freight and passenger rates."

NEED OF LARGER ARMY FORETOLD

Chairman Kahn to Ask for More Men in Ranks

CITES OTHER NATIONS

Holds Enlisted Force of 168,000 Too Small

WASHINGTON — (By Associate Press)—Chairman Kahn of the military affairs committee, told the house Friday that an enlisted force of 168,000 men as fixed by the army appropriation bill, was too small and that at the proper time he would offer an amendment increasing the number to 175,000.

Citing the fact that Japan and China both had much larger armies than this country, the California rep representative said that in proportion to population, only Colombia and Paraguay had smaller armies than the United States.

"Thousands of our fellow-citizens believe," said Mr. Kahn, "that this country by its action in the way of reducing its army can bring about international disarmament without any difficulty. Some months have elapsed since we reduced our forces. I have seen no indication anywhere that any other nation in the world is making efforts to follow our footsteps."

Answering the demand for reduction of government expenses, Mr. Kahn declared the secretary of war could be trusted absolutely to cut expenses wherever possible without injury to the military establishment. "It seems to me the facts are so palpable that no one at this time ought to want to cripple our military establishment." Mr. Kahn declared. "We have grave international questions which our state department is trying to solve. We hope they will be solved with honor and credit to our government. During the pending of these matters and in their solution, no individual can foretell what is going to happen. I for one believe we can afford to be prepared for any possible emergency and I think the American people will approve the increase in our enlisted force."

STELZER APPEALS FROM DECISION OF JUSTICE COURT IN MONEY SUIT

D. Stelzer & Son have appealed to common pleas court the case in Justice E. M. Botkin's court wherein G. W. Simmons secured a judgment against them for $115.

The same jury decided Simmons sued Stelzer & Son $46.50, leaving it balance. Stelzer & Son must pay off $58.50 and $26.50 costs.

The debt was incurred when Stelzer & Son rented a truck of Simmons on which to haul a stone top, 10 by 16 feet in width, with an eave roof of 15-inch comb, from the Pennsylvania freight station to Woodlawn cemetery.

It was to be used for the erection of a burial vault for Nairo Bros. Lima. Stelzer claimed the truck broke down and that he was forced to expend an amount of money for repairs and to get the stone to the cemetery, declaring the truck was not capable of carrying the burden. The jury found in favor of Simmons owing Stelzer, for the repairs.

WARREN REALTORS HERE TO OPEN NEW ADDITION

Real estate forces here were augmented this week by the advent of the Park Land Co. which expect to make this city its headquarters for the next few months. This company comes from Warren, Ohio.

A new addition to be known as "Sunset Acres" is being opened up by this firm and as soon as this is sold it is understood that other subdivisions will be placed on the market. NO SECRET ABOUT DANDELION USE

Big Harvests of Blossoms Taken
—General News

WAPAKONETA — (Special) — The purpose of those who stoop to gather the lowly and humble dandelion blossom isn't a mystery. One morning a big lawn may have millions of the golden flowerets, but by evening it has been shaved clean. The blossoms are more plentiful than usual, the banks of the Auglaize river being laden with them.

Prof. E. E. Clayton, plant pathologist of the O. S. U., conducted a motion picture demonstration on corn root rot here Thursday in the agricultural department of the Blume high school.

Four lads who entered the Williams School building here Tuesday night and got away with $1.36 in cash and articles of sixth grade room were apprehended and prosecution may result.

Officials are puzzled as to ownership of a new Cadillac auto that was found without license plates on the Dixie highway north of here. Hard usage indicates it was stolen.

T. M. C. A. quartette, Madames Albert Miller and Malcolm Baxter and Messrs. Howard Gibbs and L. W. Swaldner, will give a concert at Brown theater Sunday for the benefit of the T. M. C. A. building fund.

Because of unemployment, merchants are extending credit to the limit. Some business houses have given so much credit that they are straitened to meet their current obligations.

County commissioners and Surveyor J. E. House received assurance from the state highway department that Auglaize will be accorded sufficient money in May to proceed with the improvement of the Dixie highway.

Boys' field team for the high school track and field meet May 7 was selected at Blume Hi, composed of Harold Gutman, Cleatus Zaenglin, Ernest Pitts, Roy Foss, Arthur Craft and Paul Fenton. O. J. Dierck, athletic director of Lima schools, will referee the meet, which will be held at the fair grounds here.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY IS TO BE STAGED TONIGHT

The comedy, "When Smith Stepped Out," will be presented by the Junior Class of Central Hi school Friday evening at Central Hi auditorium.

Rehearsals have been held daily for three weeks. Dress rehearsal was held Thursday and the play promises to be one of the best that has ever been presented at Central Hi.

The cast is well selected and should handle the parts with skill. The plot is based on the absent-mindedness of Uncle Bill, who gets into many difficulties by forgetting his watch on one of his walks and carrying a revolver. He holds up a stranger whom he thinks has stolen his watch and does not discover his mistake until he reaches home.

Rehearsals have been under the direction of Miss Zella Foster, head of the English department. The play is presented to provide funds for the reception given the Senior Class by the Juniors in June. The comedy starts at eight o'clock.

MUST PAY $65 BY 4 P.M.
FRIDAY OR GO TO JAIL, IS ORDER TO CHEUVRONT

Lowell Cheuvront, 18, 955 N. West-st, must pay back alimony by four o'clock Friday afternoon, or be placed in the county jail.

That was the ultimatum of Judge F. C. Becker, when Cheuvront told the court he would not pay and is said to have cursed the attorney for his divorced wife, who brought the contempt proceedings against him.

Because the journal entry was not filed until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, 2 hours from that time was granted, instead of from 9 o'clock in the morning, when the case was up for disposal Thursday.

"Unless the money is in the hands of the court on the stroke of four Friday afternoon, I will at once have a writ issued to the sheriff to arrest Cheuvront and place him in jail," Attorney Ludwig said Friday. "There will be no more dallying about this matter."

When contempt proceedings were heard Monday, Cheuvront openly told the judge he would not pay the $5 a week imposed upon him when the divorce decree was granted his wife, Joseph Walsh Cheuvront, for the support of his 1-year-old child. Cheuvront is in arrears to the extent of $65.

JUST A STROKE OF PEN
FROM ABE DANYBUISKI
TO ARTHUR A. DANIELS

The Danybuski walked into the probate court, Friday morning. A stroke of the pen and he walked out four minutes later as Arthur A. Daniels.

Some weeks ago Danybuski filed a petition to have his name changed, because it was of foreign origin, difficult to use and to remember.

The petition was granted with the signature of the court and Danybuski left with a new name attached to him.

FOCH INVITED TO HANG HIMSELF

Pro-German Writers Ask Him to Fiery Region

GETS MANY KINDS OF NOTES

Mothers Tell of Naming Babies After Marshal

PARIS — (By Associated Press) — Marshal Foch says that one of his great regrets is that he has not time enough to properly digest the mail he receives. Like most men in his position, he receives a batch of correspondence that keeps his aids busy, sifting the trivial and eccentric from the important and interesting.

Friends and enemies alike write him profusely and their letters run the whole gamut from ecstatic adulation to frenzied vituperation. This morning he received a dozen letters and as many packages from the same person, an American. All were registered. The American must have known that this class of mail gets first attention by the Marshal's staff.

Nearly every mail brings a letter from some pro-German in America inviting the Marshal to have himself hanged or go to the place of fire and brimstone. By every mail someone sends him an ode or a song written in his honor.

Mothers write him informing him they have named the finest baby in the world after him, and American fathers send word that they would have taken a good drink in his honor on some anniversary or other had not the United States gone dry.

Authors send him their books and inventors forward descriptions of wonderful new engines of destruction or schemes to suppress war.

The Marshal's advice is asked on all the subjects with which he says he is least familiar.

What has amused him most lately was a post card received from San Francisco with the photographs of two pickaninnies and the inscription "Here's Young America."

LOSES OWN LIFE SAVING COMRADE

Story of Battle With Seas off California is Told

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — (By International News Service)—Pacific Coast fishermen are discussing what is said to be one of the most heroic exploits in the history of fishing smacks along the coast during a storm off Point Loma which cost the life of John Zaberlin, an Italian, and in which Joe Vidovitch and Sam Frontera, Austrians, received severe cuts about the head and shoulders caused by flying glass. All three men were sailors of the forty-foot Italian fishing craft Santa Lucia.

The battle of the small craft with the gale-lashed seas was marked with many spectacular incidents after the tiny little vessel had been knocked on its beam ends by a monster coulour. Zaberlin literally gave his life to save Vidovitch. The Santa Lucia, bound from the fishing banks north of La Jolla for San Diego, had reached a point about one mile northwest of the whistling buoy, at the entrance to the harbor, when it suddenly was engulfed by a giant wave. The surge of the seas smashed in the cabin windows, shattering Frontera, who was at the wheel, with bits of broken glass; tore the compass bodily from its fastenings and washed Zaberlin and Vidovitch, who were standing on the lee side of the cabin, overboard, together with the nets, valued at $3,000. These nets were made fast to a bitt near the stern, a fact to which Vidovitch, coupled with the heroic assistance of Zaberlin, owes his life.

IN TROUGH OF SEA
Zaberlin and Vidovitch were carried several hundred feet on the crest of the froth-capped comber before they were jerked up suddenly by clutching the meshes of the net. The Santa Lucia, wallowing in the swells, without a helmsman, Frontera having been knocked partially unconscious when the cabin was stove in, continued on toward the bell buoy.

Laboriously fighting their way hand over hand along the net, with the seas continually whipping about their heads and choking them with its froth and spume, Zaberlin and Vidovitch managed to reach the stern of the Santa Lucia. They had labored for more than an hour and were virtually exhausted. By a super-human effort Zaberlin pulled himself aboard by digging his feet into the meshes of the net hanging over the stern. Once safe on deck he turned and helped Vidovitch. As the latter fell over the rail Zaberlin turned to him and said.

FAILS LIPLESS

"I have helped you all I could. I am going to die now."

Without uttering another sound the fisherman flung up his hands and fell to the Santa Lucia's deck, lifeless.

Too weak to offer any aid Vidovitch lay near his dead shipmate while he called weakly to Frontera to head the smack into the channel. In the meantime the net had gone adrift from the vessel, relieving it greatly of the drag and permitting Frontera to keep the craft from lying in the trough of the swells. Frontera, however, failed to prevent the Santa Lucia from drifting dangerously close to the breakers, and it was in this perilous position that Captain Andrew Castagnole, of the fishing schooner Catherine, sighted the Santa Lucia when he was in view from the southward.

Without hesitating a second Castagnole maneuvered his boat near the Santa Lucia, succeeded in getting a line aboard and towed the boat into the harbor.

FISHERWOMAN ALARMED

The fate of the Santa Lucia alarmed the members of the local fishing colony, and many Italian and Austrian fisherwomen rushed to the waterfront to seek news of their husbands. The wife of the captain of the Italian fishing schooner Garibaldi became hysterical when she found the craft was not in port. Because of her wild pleadings the coast guard cutter Tingard was dispatched to search the buoys of La Jolla. The Tingard met the Garibaldi inbound and safe, abreast Ballast Point.

Fishermen said the gale kicked up the "dirtiest" sea that has been seen in local waters in years.

So many people object to the bitter taste of crude ordinary bakers yeast and its frequently nauseating and sickening effects that chemists have finally found a way to concentrate the yeast with other health-giving elements into a tablet form known as VITAMON. So rapid and remarkable are the results produced by this new product that it is no wonder thousands of former "yeast eaters" are now taking VITAMON to round out

WAR TALK HEARD IN HAWAII

Legislature of Territory Warned
by American Editor

(BY W. K. RASSETT)
HONOLULU — (International News Service) — "You are touching a match to the inflammable material between the United States and Japan,
I believe it is God's word I am speaking."

Such is the statement made to the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii by Lorin A. Thurston, owner of the Honolulu Advertiser and direct descendant of one of the first American missionaries to land on the islands.
It represents the first public statement referring to possible war between the two countries which has been made in Hawaii by a responsible person and one who is recognized as a leader of the conservative element here.

The statement of Thurston was made in the Legislature during the debate on a proposed bill which would compel translations to be printed in all foreign language newspapers parallel with articles and editorials in the foreign language.
Although the bill strikes at Korean, Chinese, Filipino and Portuguese papers, as well as those in the Japanese language, it was inspired by the opposition to the Japanese press, represented in the minds by more daily and weekly newspapers than are published in the English language.

Alto Lorin Thurston has repeatedly endeavored to bring about a mutual understanding between the Japanese and American residents of the islands, he has not previously in public hinted at the dangers of war. At the special session of the Legislature in 1919, the newspaper publisher was successful in preventing a drastic anti-foreign language school bill being considered by the legislative body and substituted for the proposed law one which regulated the Japanese schools and which was endorsed by leading Japanese business and professional men of the community. The Thurston Law, as it is called, places foreign language schools, heretofore conducted exclusively and independently by the Japanese, under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Instruction and provides that all teachers shall be examined in English language, history and institutions before a permit will be granted them to teach in the private schools.

Thurston's opposition to the anti-Japanese press bill has resulted in a general division of the community, and many American citizens have come to the publisher's support in expressing disfavor with the bill. The Japanese press is publishing bitter condemnation of the proposed law, but the general attitude of the leading Japanese residents is along the line of conservatism.

JACKSON LEVIES MAXIMUM FINE

Frank Kromer Draws $1,000;
Achme Cornila Gets $100

One maximum fine of $1,000 and a minimum fine of $100 was levied by Judge Jackson against two liquor law violators in decisions rendered at Friday morning's session of criminal court.

Frank Kromer, 18, of 817 Wapak rd., was fined the limit of $1,000 when he plead guilty to a charge of illegally manufacturing contraband whiskey. He stated in court that he was guilty of the charge and that he was aware of violating the state prohibition laws.

Kromer was arrested by Chief of Police O. J. Roush and a detail of officers who raided his home Thursday night. A quantity of whiskey and apparatus for making liquor was Achme Cornila, 1710 Newark, arrested in the drive here last week by state dry agents, was fined $100 by Judge Jackson. The minimum fine was imposed due to the fact that it was clearly brought out in the trial that Cornila was not manufacturing anything besides wine made with yeast, flour and water for his own use.

BREAD PRICES GO DOWN IN KENTON

Sparks From Workman's Pipe Set Fire to Bucket of Pitch

KENTON — (Special) — Two Kenton bakeries have reduced the price of bread from 10 to 9 cents. A third bakery has increased the size of its loaves, allowing the price to remain at 10 cents.

A jury in common pleas court Thursday rendered a verdict for $100 in favor of Carrie B. Ames, who, as administratrix of the estate of C. S. Ames, deceased, sued Thomas and Mary King, of Ada, for a doctor bill of $40. In this case both the doctor and his former patient, to whose parents the bill was presented, were deceased.

When 21 candidates from Belle Center and Roundhead were initiated in the third degree, the Kenton Odd Fellow degree team did the work. A Kenton delegation attended.

Sparks from a workman's pipe set fire to a bucket of pitch being used to repair garage roof here and the fire department was summoned. Damage was small.

When starting to a train to come here and visit her daughters, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, of Marisville, fell down stairs and sustained a broken leg.

City Clean-up Week will be observed next week. Health Officer Lee Meadow will be in charge of the campaign.

When American Rescue Workers open their headquarters here May 1, Rev. W. Bludger, Dunkirk, will preach the opening sermon. Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Maxwell are in charge of the work here.

WORLD NEWS

OBERLIN — The student body of Oberlin College observed the 89th birthday anniversary of Edmund A. West, oldest living alumus. Congratulations were wired to him. He graduated in 1843.

COLUMBUS — George B. Kaufman, 50, formerly professor in the College of Pharmacy at Ohio State University, died here.

COLUMBUS — The supreme court refused to review the case of W. W. Morris, former state representative from Cleveland, who was sentenced to serve a term in the penitentiary following his conviction of embezzeling funds from the police pension fund, while secretary of the Cleveland safety department.

CLEVELAND — Four hundred and forty contractors, members of the Building Trades Employers' Association, voted to cut wages of building trades mechanics an average of 20 per cent. beginning Monday, when recent agreement expires.

YOUNGSTOWN — "Big Jim" Falzone, notorious Youngstown character, was probably fatally wounded when he was shot thru the lungs by an Italian who escaped.

CLEVELAND — Louis Komer, alias "Toledo Kid," was arrested in Detroit in connection with the murder of George K. Fanner and W. R. Sliv, during a payroll robbery last December.

WASHINGTON — The Senate reached an agreement on the Knox tax resolution Saturday.

TOLEDO — Building trades representatives rejected 10 to 20 per cent wage reduction demand made by the Toledo Builders' Exchange.

PREMIER CALLED
LABOR TRAITOR

Lloyd-George Assailed by Parliament Member

ALIGNED WITH PRIVILEGE

His Policy and Program Branded Mere Tragedy

futuro unless all the other parties combined to oppose its phenomenal progress in the constituencies. ALIGNED WITH "PRIVILEGE" In that speech Mr. Lloyd-George had aligned himself definitely and unequivocally with the party of privilege and property which he once ardently advocated. He has been saluted with a vehemence of language and a recklessness of spirit no labor propagandist, even among the little group of extremists whose influence leader in our history has shown, has ever equalled. He has forsaken the people's to realize the aims he once professed cause. He had an opportunity given to no statesman for many generations—to reconstruct society, disorganized and impoverished by the war, on the principles of social justice and economic freedom which he once ardently advocated. He has betrayed these ideals. And to save himself from the just consequences of such inconsistency, inconsistency and cynicism as no other political propagandist, even among the little group of extremists whose influence leader in our history has shown, has ever equalled. He has forsaken the people's to realize the aims he once professed

COULD NOT CAJOLE LABOR The Prime Minister knows, none better, that his description of the Labor Party's policy and programme is a mere travesty. There is only one explanation of his attack on the Labor Party; he knows he cannot cajole it, so he denounces it. "By his betrayal of democracy he has lost all hope of obtaining further support from organized labor, and he turns to rend the men who had trusted him.

PREMIER "IN THE KNOW"

"The Labor Party will not merely survive his attack, it will be strengthened by it. The hysterical exaggerations of Lloyd George's speeches deceived no one, least of all himself.

"He does not believe that labor's aims are subversive; no one knows better than he how much importance attaches to the revolutionary sentiments of a few extremists in the organized movement; no one has a shrewder opinion as to the influence these exercise in the councils of organized labor.

"He appeals to the credulity and self-interest and the fears of those who have made him their leader. To maintain him in office is their only hope of maintaining a system which involves undeserved privileges for the few and undeserved hardships for the many."

MILLIONAIRE HOBO
TO AID UNEMPLOYED

CHICAGO — James Eads How, known as the "millionaire hobo," and his staff were here today for the International Unemployed Conference.

which will be in session for two days and to arrange for a rally of the unemployed on Sunday afternoon. The meetings are called, Mr. How said, because of "the serious aspect of the unemployment situation." He estimated the number of jobless to close to five million and believes today's conference will ask President Harding to take action to relieve the condition.

Good Clothes Reasonably Priced

On the boulevards, at the clubs, in the theaters, at the ball games, wherever discriminating, red-blooded Americans meet—you will find "EILERMAN CLOTHES."

Suits from the Eierman store are tailored never to lose their dignity. They look as well at the end of the season as when you first put them on—just because the best woolens and the finest tailoring are employed in their construction.

A Suit that is properly tailored is presentable and useful until the fabric is literally worn out. Good tailoring is a matter of science and organization rather than an expense. No matter what you pay for your clothes here, you will find they are truly economical. Good Clothes always are.

BAN ON GERMAN LUXURIES URGED

Berlin Group Favors Entente Control of Spendthrifts

RECEIVERSHIP IS PROPOSED

Taxes Evasion by Many Big Industrial Concerns

(By FRANK E. MASON)

BERLIN — International News Service — An international receivership for Germany to control reparations will be suggested to the Alies if an important group of bankers and manufacturers represented in the Federal Industrial Council can break down the opposition of what is known as the Stinnes group.

These counter proposals were drawn up in detail before the London Conference, but Stinnes' opposition in the Federal Industrial Council effectively silenced, for the time being, the backers of the scheme.

"We must first succeed in getting recognition of the principle in Germany that we will voluntarily do everything possible to pay the reparations," said an important banker to the International News Service. Because a sharp fight is expected in the Industrial Council it was requested that the names of the backers of the movement and the strength of opposition to Stinnes be withheld from publication.

"Stinnes represents the standpoint that we must make the Entente collect anything they get. The most serious obstacle to which he and his industrial colleagues object is an internalized control placing their noses into every international transaction which Germany makes. At the present time dozens of big industrial concerns are exporting goods from Germany, but are having the money paid into Holland or Swiss banks. This makes the money safe from the high capital and income taxation in Germany—and incidentally saves it from any claims the Entente may have for indemnity.

MERCHANTS EVADE TAX
"This is the very money, representing Germany's balance in trade, which must go to pay the indemnity. We agree with Lloyd George that it is impossible for anyone to estimate what Germany can pay, and also agree with him that some arrangement must be made whereby the Reparations Commission will receive a part of Germany's profits—if Germany comes back quickly the Entente should receive more than half our industry remains at a standstill. "We propose to pay the Entente a percentage of the difference between what Germany exports and what she imports. We drew up a tentative scale of 70 per cent of Germany's balance of trade for the first ten years; 50 per cent for the next ten years; and one-third for the last ten years of thirty years' payment.

"The Entente would be asked to establish a regular international receivership, which would be empowered to make regulations to decrease Germany's imports and increase her exports, thus establishing a large balance with proportionate larger indemnity. We ourselves are nearly powerless to set hard and fast limits to our imports. The German Government has had difficulties with France because we have tried to limit the soap, champagne, perfumes and liquors which we import from France.

WHAT COMMISSION COULD DO
"Last year we imported something like 500 million marks' worth of coffee. If the German Government puts a ban on coffee we will immediately get into trouble with Brazil. But the international receivership or Reparations Commission could say: 'You are importing far too much coffee; you must cut it down to one-fifth.' The receivership can limit our imports to raw materials and necessities. They can say: 'You are importing too much gasoline for pleasure cars; cut it down. They will not reduce our working efficiency because that will lower our ability to pay.'

"The world apparently has a fear of German dumping or underselling. We will ask the countries to protect themselves if they think it necessary by protective tariffs, but not to choke our industries at the source, for that throttles our ability to pay.

"Of course, this receivership will have the right to examine all of our books to make sure that they are getting their just share of the balance of trade. This is the very thing which some of the industries are fighting, for they know that the Entente would then see how they are evading taxation by keeping their money made on exports in foreign countries.

LUXURIES MUST STOP

"The Entente will never be paid so long as Germany is permitted to blow in its money on luxuries. The countries which export these luxuries to Germany will protest if their import is stopped. The Entente receivership can maintain a rigid control which the German Government is too weak to carry out; any government which tried to follow this plan would be assailed from foreign exporters as well as from within Germany.

"We believe that Lloyd George cannot but approve of this plan. Brand will probably object at first,

HOOVER CONFERES WITH LEADING BUSINESS MEN
WASHINGTON — Reorganization of the department of commerce to enable it to meet better the needs of the industrial and commercial community was the object of a conference called for today by Secretary Hoover with some forty representatives of business men of the country.

The conferees, who represent many leading industries as well as trade and commercial organizations, included James A. Farrell of New York, and Charles Pick of Chicago, both of whom have been prominently mentioned for the post of chairman of the advertising board; Joseph H. De Forest, of Chicago, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Alexander Low of Chicago; Jaffron H. Barnes of New York, and Irving T. Scott of New York.

CHIEF MACK TELLS HOW TO HAVE IRON NERVES

Popular Head of Fire Department Explains His Method for Keeping Fit at All Times; Praises Syrolo

When people of the highest standing in a community—men who direct the destinies of the city—come out publicly with frank praise for a preparation, it is a positive indication of the merit of that preparation. Such praise has been given Syrolo, the famous herbal medicine which is being introduced this year by the Public Drug Store.

In his statement, made recently to the Syrolo representative, Chief John C. Mack, head of the Lima Fire Department, tells how he maintains his robust health and iron nerves thru the use of Syrolo. He said:

"Yes, I am a booster for Syrolo. I first realized its true worth when members of my family received such splendid benefits from this new medicine. They were so pleased with Syrolo that I decided to use it myself, because I make it a point to keep fit at all times.

"From my experience I can say that Syrolo is the greatest aid to the system I have ever taken. By cleansing the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels of impurities, it richens the blood, causes the nerves to be steady and strong as iron and makes you feel vigorous and alive all over. I think everyone should take it to rid the system of the winter's accumulation of waste and poisons."

Syrolo, the new herbal medicine which is helping so many local people, is being specially explained by a laboratory representative at the Public Drug Store, 142 N. Main St., Lima. It can be obtained at Thompson's and the Interurban Drug Store.

Raw Alcohol Is Menace Asserts The Syrolo Man

"All our family and friends are talking about the wonderful recovery of Frank, my husband," said Mrs. La Barre, visiting her father and mother at 531 N. Byron St., Huntington, Ind., recently.

"He was in ill health for a long time and along about last Thanksgiving became entirely helpless. He could not walk, and didn't even have strength enough to button his shirt. We were all grief stricken and tried everything we knew of to help him. Medicines and doctors alike failed, and recently we came here to see other doctors, but without result.

"My father and the rest of the folks here were all taking Syrolo, and they liked it so well we decided to have Frank try it. I'm sure it wasn't more than two weeks after he started taking the medicine that he was able to get up and walk about, and now he's back in Huntington at work.

"We have never learned what alied Frank, some doctors claimed he was paralyzed, some said he had kidney trouble and other stated he had rheumatism. One thing is sure, however, and that is that Syrolo put him on his feet again, and Frank and I and the folks will never cease to be grateful for Syrolo."

Syrolo, on the other hand, is a medicine and a medicine only; it must earn its way by improving your health; it contains no "kick" in the form of alcohol or opiates; it is manufactured by a concern that has specialized in herb medicines for over fifty years. To be safe, take Syrolo."

Local Merchant Was Amazed at Syrolo Benefits

Prominent Business Man Says New Medicine Brought Speedy Relief

One after the other, prominent Lima people are coming forward with words of praise for Syrolo, the new herbal medicine which is doing so much to relieve stomach, liver and catarrh sufferers here.

Mr. F. H. Russell, 116½ Wayne St., formerly proprietor of The Bargain Store, at 109 E. Wayne St., whose business ability has made him an outstanding figure in the city's commercial affairs, is the latest to offer voluntary testimony. He said to the Syrolo man recently:

"I retired temporarily some time ago because I was in a rundown condition. My food didn't digest properly, fermenting in my stomach and causing severe pain, headache and a disagreeable taste in my mouth. My kidneys suffered, too, and I was altogether without my customary energy and ambition.

"Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Syrolo, and can positively state that the speedy relief it gave amazed me. I find that my food digests as it should, which naturally gives me added strength and energy. The headaches have left me and I am not constipated as formerly. I am glad to recommend Syrolo to those who suffer as I did."

Syrolo, the new herbal medicine which is helping so many local people, is being specially explained by a laboratory representative at the Public Drug Store, 142 N. Main St., Lima. It can be obtained at Thompson's and the Interurban Drug Store.

Lima Man Puts One Over On a Trouble Maker

Gives All Credit to Syrolo For Benefits He and Wife Secured

Another Lima man has put one over on a trouble maker! And he is receiving congratulations on all sides. Because of his popularity and reputation as a solid citizen, his experience should prove of value to many others. The lucky man is Ernest Glatz, the well-known barber of the Manhattan Barber Shop on High St. He said recently to the Syrolo man:

"My wife and I give Syrolo all the credit for our recovery. While neither of us was sick enough to go to bed, still we were only about half well. Indigestion and catarrh gave me a lot of trouble. I got so bad that food fermented on reaching my stomach, causing gas, belching and considerable pain. My appetite faded away and I often had a bad breath and a bad taste in my mouth. My wife's trouble was constipation. Thanks to this Syrolo, we are both feeling as tho we had taken a new lease on life."

"My wife's trouble was constipation. Thanks to this Syrolo, we are both feeling as tho we had taken a new lease on life."

"The raw alcohol alone would be dangerous enough to cause serious injury to persons having weak kidneys. But that is not all; Many of these preparations contain drugs which act on the organs, and act beneficially when used in their proper doses. When the medicine is used as a beverage, however, many times the regular dose is taken and the result is over-worked stomach, liver and kidneys. Often irreparable injury is worked before one realizes it."

"Syrolo, on the other hand, is a medicine and a medicine only; it must earn its way by improving your health; it contains no 'kick' in the form of alcohol or opiates; it is manufactured by a concern that has specialized in herb medicines for over fifty years. To be safe, take Syrolo."

KNOX PEACE FOES READY TO FIGHT

Resolution's Opponents Prepared for Fray Today

DEMOCRATS PLAN ATTACK

Senate to Vote on the Measure
Tomorrow

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — With leaders in the senate agreed on a final vote tomorrow on the Knox peace resolution, opponents of the measure were prepared today to continue the attack directed against it yesterday by Senator Nelson called a final conference for tomorrow. Republican, Minnesota, and Underwood, of Alabama, Democratic leader.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee and Senators King of Utah and Pomerene, of Ohio, both Democrats, were among those who have announced their intention of speaking.

Senators Lodge, Knox, Borah and others are expected to take the floor in defense of the proposal.

Agreement to dispose of the resolution tomorrow was reached yesterday by Senators Lodge and Underwood. If this is done the way will be cleared for consideration of the emergency tariff bill beginning Monday. The tariff measure was ordered favorably reported yesterday by the finance committee.

The house which yesterday passed the naval appropriation bill and immediately began debate on the army budget was expected today to continue consideration of the latter measure. Indications were that a brisk fight would be staged over the size of the army. The bill provides for a reduction of enlisted personnel from 231,000 to 168,000. Many representatives were said to favor a still greater reduction.

LOS ANGELES WILL SEEK WATER POWER FROM GOV'T

LOS ANGELES — Engineers for the public service department of the City of Los Angeles have perfected plans for the construction of twenty-two huge power plants in the Owens Valley, on the Los Angeles aqueduct and on the Kern and Kings rivers. It is anticipated that a total of 390,000 horse-power will be obtained from the projects.

In addition to this vast programme it is anticipated that the City of Los Angeles will seek to develop at least 250,000 horse-power from the Government's reclamation programme in the Boulder Creek Canyon of the Colorado River where a survey is now being made by engineers.

A total bond issue for the complete programme would amount to $25,000,000, it is estimated.

"FLU" LEFT THIS MAN A NERVOUS RUN DOWN WRECK

Lima Railroad Man Was Weak,
Nervous, Had no Appetite,
Stomach Out of Order

Now Praises the Remedy, Drexco,
for Splendid Relief. Drexco
Now Sells for the Old Price

"I had the "Flu" last year, and I left home in a bad condition; my nerves were on edge; I couldn't sleep, had no appetite; bowels badly obstructed and in a general debilitated state," says Mr. Thos. Bragg of 31 South Jackson Street, Lima, O. Well known Pennsylvania Railroad man and baggage man. "My stomach troubled me greatly, and I seldom could eat breakfast; had a bad disagreeable taste in my mouth, my kidneys pained me all the time; had a dull, aching feeling directly over them, and my legs also ached. My nerves went to pieces so that what sleep I got was fitful, and gave me little rest. I decided to try Drexco, as it was spoken of so highly here at home, and it has surely done me a world of good. Really I am surprised at the improvement. My pains are gone; I sleep well, bowels regular, bad taste in my mouth gone, and breath sweet. I feel like doing more work than ever before. Drexco is great and I heartily recommend it to everyone." All good druggists now sell Drexco, and it is highly recommended in Lima by Baldwin's Central Drug Co., Corner Main and High sts.,

To Mayor Burkhardt

DEAR FRANK: The third time wasn't the charm! Your attempt to oust Chief of Police Roush, the third case of its kind since you took office sixteen months ago, suffered the same fate as the others.

I was not in sympathy with your first two attempts to get rid of officials who were dis-tasteful to you. I considered it a political game and the best interests of my city were suffering while you were devoting your time to carry it on.

Your evidence in the first cases was short when introduced to a court. Knowing this, I supposed you would be well prepared to go thru with the Roush case with sufficient evidence, but after hearing the testimony yesterday I was forced to admit it was the biggest joke of all. It was ridiculous to take the time of busy men to hear it.

I understand you have taken an appeal and that you will continue to fight the case. None can doubt your sincerity in the matter, but unless you have something up your sleeve which you did not produce before the civil service commission and can find nothing better to do, I would advise that you go fishing instead of to higher courts.

I would not under any circumstances advocate the retention of an official who is derelict in his duty. Such a man should be discharged at once. I have read your statements that Chief Roush is lax and that his department is inefficient. I have followed your action in suspending him for 30 days on the ground of insubordination, which did not stand up before a court of three men. If you have conclusive evidence that my best interests are suffering because of a poor police department, why not introduce it? If not, let's get down to business and do something constructive for the welfare of the community.

DEAR MAC: I have seen a number of persons lose their temper while driving on the West Side when they turned into a street to find it blocked in the middle of the square. Why not put up warnings at intersections when thoroughfares are closed in this manner?

To Lima Mothers

MY DEAR WOMEN: My attention has been called to the fact that the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' association in Washington has taken up the cudgel against the displaying of feminine knees, shin bones and large areas of breast bone to the public.

In this connection I have noticed that young girls of Lima, not content with wearing dresses that display the upper section of their bodies, have also adopted the plan of turning their stockings down and baring their knees. I trust that a sufficient number of mothers of my city will rule against the new "style" to make it objectionable.

STRANGER: I'll admit it's more comfortable to park a wet umbrella beside your seat companion than to hold it in front of you, but I'm afraid some day you will meet up with one not as gentle natured as I was Tuesday evening. You may have the fact that other people do not like to become soaked from your rain stick forcibly impressed upon you some day. Beware!

BILL'S FREEDOM.

We see by the papers
That Bill Haywood, of the I. W. W.,
Who was under sentence
To Fort Leavenworth, has gone
From these shores and
Has found "freedom" in Russia,
Where he will be better understood
Than he was in the United States.
Personally we do not look
Upon Bill's escape from these shores
As an unadulterated calamity.
Except perhaps to himself,
It seems to be reasonably sure
That we can worry along
Without his guiding hand.

We trust that he will Enjoy the "freedom" he will find
In Lenin's Utopia, but for
One of Bill's appetites, we think
It will be rather doubtful.
As for choosing between

The freedom of Russia and
The freedom of Fort Leavenworth,
Where one at least is sure
Of three squares a day,
We would pick Leavenworth.
There will be no use sending
For Bill. He has picked
His own punishment.

Michael Dempsey, at the Manhattan opera house, N. Y., where he is getting ready for the summer season of comic opera, offers the United States a solution of the German question and doesn't render a bill, either: "Why not enact a prohibition law for Germany?" UNDoubtedly.

To all ye would-be suitors
A hint I'd like to drop:
It's tough to pop the question,
But it's worse to question "Pop."

To the National Congress
DEAR SOLONS: It is gratifying to me to note that you have decided practically solid against daylight saving in any and all of the big zones of the United States, by voting against the reporting of a daylight saving bill.

The idea of prolonging daylight served its purpose during the war, but in peace times it is unnecessary and unwarranted. I am pleased that you did not permit yourselves to be stampeded into a bit of foolishness that time and experience has proven altogether needless.

BOYS: Greetings! I am glad you have taken enough interest in amateur and semi-pro ball in my city to form a commission which will be the last resort in case of an argument. My hope is that you will be able to prevent some of the misunderstandings which have been common heretofore.

To the Chamber of Commerce
DEAR FOLKS: I am wishing you a great measure of success as a result of the efforts of your housing committee to work out plans for relieving the housing shortage in my city.

The feeling extant that unemployment would bring about an easing up of the house shortage has proven a fallacy. The condition still exists; in fact is growing more acute. There has been no outflow of citizens from Lima and such a thing will not occur, it is believed as employment conditions are improving rapidly.

There is only one way to remedy the house shortage and that is by the erection of more homes. No other scheme is tenable.

To Judge Hamilton

DEAR JUDGE: Announcement made from your office that it is your intention to break up, to as great an extent as possible, the practice of young people meeting clandestinely, on account of the danger to morals thereby, is a commendable stand on your part and I trust that you will meet with success.

However, I have my doubts about it. So long as parents are careless about their children, the work of the juvenile department is made doubly hard. Besides, there is the element that encourages that sort of thing which you have to contend with. The best method of stopping such a dangerous practice among young people is to interest parents in paying more attention to the whereabouts of their offspring at night.

MY DEAR MEN: I have noted with more than ordinary interest your report of the activities of my Y. M. C. A. during the past year and wish to express my gratification over the results obtained.

I look upon the Y. M. C. A. as one of the most desirable of my many institutions for the uplift of the youth and the plan upon which you are proceeding has my hearty approval.

My only regret is that the financial affairs of the "Y" are not such as to show a greater balance on the right side of the ledger.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

KIDS, HOW ARE YOU BITING? If I had a regular kid—I'm an unlucky man, for I have nothing but children—but if I had a kid of my own I'd train him to bite well. I've a pretty firm conviction that the kid who can bite perfectly can fight his own way in life. Theodore Roosevelt knew how to bite well, and what a great fighter he was! General Pershing isn't weak about the jaws, and he can fight some! I could if I would name some people who had a wonderful start and a great opportunity but failed "to put it over"—people who didn't bite well, some defect of the teeth and jaw development.

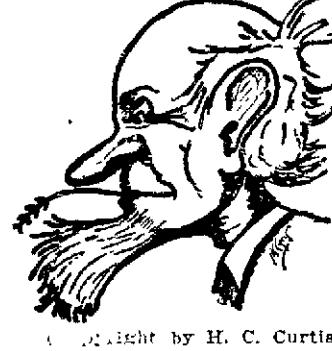

I'd want my kid to crack nuts with his teeth. I'd want him to take his taters with the hides on. I'd want him to spread plenty of crude brown sugar on his bread and butter, and for breakfast I'd want him to put the kibosh on a ginerous dish of plain undecorated wheat, cooked from twenty minutes to three hours, with plenty of fresh milk or cream and brown sugar on. And if my kid harbored after raw potato, or raw carrots, or green apples, I'd pat him on the back and say: "Son, it's your tummy—go to it!" Likewise if my regular kid wanted to go in swimming three times hand running on a hot, dry, cold or moist day in June, April, October or August, or if he wanted to leave off his woolen underwear or his shoes and stockings or his overcoat in March or December or May or October, I'd say: "Sure!" Of course that wouldn't be on account of his biting, but just to keep the kid from becoming a molycondyle.

But it isn't just what a kid eats or how he eats it that determines how well he shall bite. The other day I saw a child nineteen years old who had started in when she was a baby sucking her thumb and kept it up all her life. Her thumb was badly deformed, but that was of no serious importance. The serious deformity was in her jaws. The upper front teeth were pushed forward and separated; the lower teeth were pushed inward and overlapped; so when the poor child tried to bite, her teeth were still about three quarters of an inch apart in front, whereas the upper front teeth should just overlap the lower front ones with practically no space between them when the jaws are closed. Of course the child was a sickly, poorly developed specimen, altho the teeth may still be brought into fair position by the skill of modern dentistry.

If such slight forces of pressure as that of a thumb in the mouth can push the teeth and jaws out of position like that, an equally slight force or pressure can push them back into proper position when they are deformed, tho it takes one or two years to accomplish this in most cases between the ages of eight and eighteen.

Certainly every kid is born with a fair to middling tooth and jaw foundation, and it is his own fault, or his parents' or his teacher's, or his doctor's, or his dentist's, if his teeth and jaws are permitted to go wrong. The Way to Keep Teeth Clean I am not saying a word about the toothbrush or cleaning the teeth. That isn't of much importance in my judgment. I wouldn't care whether my kid ever brushed his

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is a lucky day. Under this rule of the stars women should be successful in all business undertakings.

This is a lucky day; the bride of today will know happiness both in life and material success.

Engagements between lovers which are made on this day may lead to great wealth and success.

There is a prophecy that a woman will rise to great success in the theatre as an emotional actress.

Persons whose birthday this is will have a successful year if they are employees.

Children born today will probably be successful statesmen or diplomats, if they are boys, and if they are girls, successful marriages are in store.

AT LIMA THEATRES

Partners of Fate
LOUISE LOVELY, a Fox star, has never impressed herself upon my mind as an artist of exceptional ability, but after seeing her in the heroine role in "Partners of Fate," you'll agree that she's a sincere, hardworking little person, who deserves lots of praise for her work in this current production.

Another ship-wreck-desert island affair, this time, however, with many variations. Two young couples start out on their honeymoon, bound for southern islands. The quiet and home-loving husband had married a butterfly; the domestic little lady had married a pleasure-seeking scamp. Right in the beginning all persons concerned find they have married the wrong person, but to the rest of the passengers they are two happily married couples, having a good time.

The shipwreck, naturally, washes them up on an island but not together. Helen, the little quiet wife, lands with John, who had married the butterfly, one one side of an island, while the others in the party were on the other side, each unaware of the other's presence.

Things grow complicated with a daring youngster whom Helen had taken upon herself to care for, creating much amusement and dampers. The butterfly and Helen's no-account husband are rescued, leaving Helen and John on the island alone with Little Eileen. The final denouement to this train of affairs is too thrilling to disclose, therefore, we will not tell it here.

Miss Lovely, as stated before, is splendid. She looks and acts like Mary Pickford and Wanda Hawley all in one and has the opulence with her all thru the picture. Wm. Scott as John is one of the best in the cast, with Philo McCullough and the now-be-bobbed Rosemary They in the roles of the villain and villainess.

Scenically, technically, etc., the production "Partners of Fate," is a creditable program picture. See it and enjoy an interesting production.

The Brute Master
CHARMIAN LONDON, I believe is responsible for "The Brute Master," which follows the same general lines of the stories by her famous departed husband. The "Brute Master" gives Hobart Bosworth the title role. It is more or less convincing.

While Bosworth is not one of the younger nor best looking actors, he is one of the best. He has a habit, however, of lapsing into the heavy

Y.W.C.A. GIRLS TO ENJOY HIKE TO THE CABLE FARM

(By ROSEMARY CHRISTEN)

MEMBERS of the Y. W. C. A., their secretaries and promoters are always making plans for some kind of an enjoyable gathering for the girls, whereby they may combine pleasure and something worth while.

For quite some time vespers services have been held in the Y. W. C. A. room Sunday afternoon when an interesting program of music, instructive talks, et cetera, has been presented. A social hour always follows and the meetings have proven very delightful. Now, in response to the call of spring, the girls will hold their meetings in the great outdoors during the lovely months to come.

Sunday afternoon they will meet in the association rooms at 3 o'clock and with Mrs. Julia Simpson as leader will hike to the Cable farm, several miles west of the city. There they will assemble in the open and conduct their vespers meetings. Mrs. Simpson will read Van Dyke's "Outdoors With God," followed by a study of nature, of the trees, the birds and flowers.

It is hoped that these meetings will be successful as they promise to be very delightful as well as beneficial.

Friday evening the Y. W. C. A. girls will be hostess to the nurses of the City and St. Rita's hospitals at a pleasant gathering in the association rooms. Miss Howard Fletcher, chairman of the hospitality committee and Miss Mary Garfield, physical director, are in charge.

Members of the Sunday school class of the United Brethren church gathered at the home of Mrs. Joseph Connors, E. Vile at Tuesday evening as a farewell to her before her departure for Chicago.

Miss Alice Finney, Girls' secretary of the West Virginia Y. W. C. A. field will be a guest at the local association rooms Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. John E. Givin and children Virginia and Bobby and Mrs. John Potter returned Thursday from California where they enjoyed the winter months.

Miss Nettie McKinney who resides near Harrod, is improving nicely following an operation which she underwent at City hospital Monday.

Misses Mae Hensler, Florence Neuman and Emil Kettler will be hostesses to the beginner's department of Market-st. Presbyterian church at a social gathering to be given at the church Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Emil Levy extended the hospitality of her home on S. Charles at Thursday evening to the members of the Jtst. Tau club. Bridge was presented as pastime, Mrs. Ruth Kerr Hyer and Miss Helen King holding high scores while Mrs. Edgar Meeks, Ft. Wayne, was consolled. At the conclusion of an enjoyable evening of play the hostess served a dainty repast.

Club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Charles Holman, W. Market st.

Miss Katherine Kahl returned to Old Wesleyan University, Delaware, after visiting with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Kahl, S. Cole-st, for several days.

Mrs. Ida Wells and daughter, Miss Hazel, formerly of this city, who have been residing in the east for the past year and a half, are once again making their home in this city.

LOVE IS LOST, GIRL YEARNING FOR ITS RETURN

(By SUSIE SMART)

Dear Miss Smart:

I KEPT steady company with a man four years my senior. I am very much in love with him and I thought at one time that he would be mine. A HEART BROKEN GIRL
I see that the young man has probably grown tired of you and that it would be useless and very unwise for you to ask him for an explanation. Don't do it. Have more self respect. Be just as independent as he. Of course, I do not mean that you should not be friendly and courteous when you see him, but do not under any condition permit him to know that you are unhappy because of the abrupt manner in which he broke up your friendship.

Of course it is very unpleasant for you, but you will have to show a brave heart, face the truth and adjust yourself to it. Remember that almost every girl has to go thru the same suffering which you are now experiencing.

In regard to the photographs, I would suggest that you say nothing of them. It always seems so small and uncalled for, for one to ask the return of a gift or an article of some kind which they have presented another. In the future be very careful about giving your picture to anyone. Nine times out of ten a girl regrets it if she gives her pictures away so promiscuously.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) Will you please tell me the names of a few magazines in which advice is given on the styles of clothes suited to the different types of women? (2) Where can I get a book entitled "Evolution of a Redhead" (3) What is the meaning of the word "cosmetics"? (4) What is a sure cure for bed bugs? We have just moved in the house in which we are living and I have found a few of those awful pests. (5) Would Louis XIV look well with a blue tailored suit?

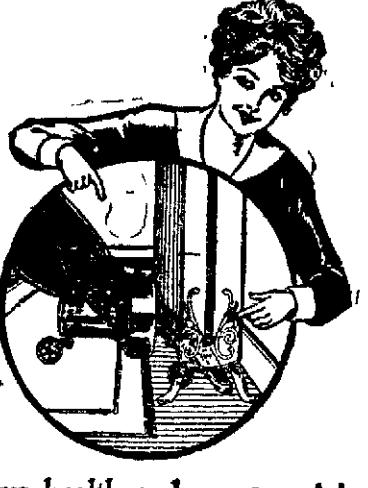

HOUSEWIFE
A WORRIED YOUNG GIRL
I am very sorry for you since your parents are so strict. I can see no reason for it. Every girl is entitled to a certain amount of entertainment and diversion, especially when she has earned it by fulfilling all her duties at home, and your parents are taking the wrong step in depriving you of these pleasures. I am certain that they do not realize what they are doing. They probably enjoyed themselves with other young people when they were young and they should not forget that these same pleasures are due you also. Prove to them that you can trust you and that a little diversion once in a while will make life happier and brighter for you. (2) I should think that almost any color would be very becoming to you.

THE KILLER

BY STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Sanborn, a young cowboy, on a dare to visit Hooper's ranch. Hooper was known as the "killer" took a horse and arrived at the ranch to the evening. Hooper graciously invited him to ride for the night. A girl, whom Hooper introduced as his daughter, was suspicious and Sanborn a note, saying that she was held a prisoner, and begging his aid. Later, Hooper himself was held a prisoner, and Sanborn had a note, saying the girl was in the handwriting as that was in the girl's note. In the morning Sanborn was sent on his way, with the injunction that if he told about the girl, he would be killed. Sanborn traded horses with Jim Starr. Sanborn was found later with a pistol in his back. The murderer had evidently meant to do away with Sanborn, not knowing about the change in horses. NOW READ ON.

But always the talk turned back at last to that crowning atrocity, the boomerang, with its windows of little calves, starved for water, lying against the fence.

"Does his daughter ever ride out?" I asked.

"Daughter?" they echoed in surprise.

"Or niece, or whoever she is," I supplemented impatiently.

"There's no woman there; not even a Mex," said one, and "Did you see any sign of any woman?" keenly from Windy Bill.

"Somebody told me about a daughter, or niece, or something," I said, vaguely.

I lay in my bunk and cast things up in my mind. Old Man Hooper thought he had put me out of the way. Perhaps the following day would inform him that Jim Starr and not myself had been reached by his killer's bullet. Whatever I was going to do must be done quickly.

I remembered the notes in my shirt pocket, and lit a candle and studied them. They were undoubtedly written by the same hand. To whom had the other been smuggled? and by what means had it come into Old Man Hooper's possession? The answer hit me suddenly. The man whom another note had been surreptitiously conveyed by the saddest, beautiful girl of the iron-barred chamber was dead and he was dead because Old Man Hooper had said I.

Wh-

At once, the crime of these men from whose dead hands the girl's appeals had been taken for the "Colonel" was clear of curiosity!

I had made many tracks during my night reconnaissance.

And the same flash of insight showed me that I would be followed wherever I went; and the thing that convinced my intuitions — not my reason — of this was the recollection of the old man stamping the remains of the poor little bird into the mud in the willows. I saw again the intense rage of his face; and I felt cold moisture touching my spine.

On this I awoke abruptly and unexpectedly to sleep.

By the time the coroner's inquest and the funeral in town were over it was 3 o'clock of the afternoon and I found myself chaperoning a visitor in our midst.

"Can you tell me how to get to Hooper's ranch?" he asked.

"So I annexed him promptly in view of developments.

He wore a hard-boiled hat, a flaming shirt, a checked vest, a coat not too tight for even his emaciated frame, and long toothpick sizes of patent leather.

It seemed that the little, shifty-faced man had been possessed of a small handbag which the negro porter had failed to put off the train and which was of tremendous importance. At the discovery it was taking my friend went into hysterics. He lifted up his voice and kept — literally kept.

I got a description of the bag and arranged to have it wired for at the next station.

I took my man into one of McGraw's private rooms and firmly closed the door.

"Put that under your belt!" I instructed, pouring him a half tumbler of McGraw's best, "and put yourself together."

"It's only whiskey," he observed merrily. "That won't help much."

"I don't know his stuff," I encouraged.

He took the half tumbler without a blink, shook his head, and closed himself another.

"You," said I, "why do you weep in the face of high heaven and outraged manhood?" And why do you want to find Hooper's ranch?"

"You, my friend?" he said, breathlessly. "Tell me, is there a doctor around here?"

"No, said I, "not on this side of Tucson. Are you sick?"

"There's a drug store in town,

but it's closed."

"Navy drug store."

He jumped to his feet.

"My God," he cried in uncontrollable excitement. "I've got to get my bag! How far is it to the next station where they're going to put it off? I got to get my bag!"

"It's near forty miles," I replied, leaning back.

"And there's no drug store here?"

"They keep a few patent medicines and such over at the Lone Star Emporium —" I started to tell him.

"Show me!" he panted.

At the Lone Star Emporium the little freak looked wildly about him, until his eyes fell on the bottle shelves. He snatched up one bottle after the others, read the labels and thrust them one side. At last he uttered a crow of delight.

"How many you got of these?" he demanded, holding up a bottle of soothing syrup.

"Six — three dollars a bottle," says Sol, boasting the price.

The little man peeled off twenty off a roll of bills and threw it down.

"Keep the other five bottles for me!" he cried in a shaky voice, and ran out.

Back thru McGraw's bar we trudged and into the back room.

"Well, here we are home again," said I.

The stranger grabbed a glass and filled it half full of soothing syrup.

"Here, are you going to drink that?" I yelled at him.

But he didn't pay any attention.

"Well, no accounting for tastes," I said. "Where do you want me to ship your remains?"

He had quit his shaking, and he looked me square in the face.

"What's it to you?" he demanded.

"Hub! Ain't you never seen a guy hit the bord before?"

"I ain't such a bad scout; but you gotta get used to me. Give me my bord and I'm all right. Now about this Hooper; you say you know him?"

"I have good cause to think he's trying to kill me," I replied.

He produced a pocketbook, and laid before me a clipping. It was from the want column of a newspaper, and read as follows:

A. A. B.—Will deal with you on your terms. H. H.

"A. A. B. that's me—Artie Brower, and H. H. that's him—Henry Hooper," he exclaimed. "And that H. H. piece of paper means that he's caved, come off, war's over. Means I'm rich, that I can have my own ponies, if I want to, of touting somebody's else's old dogs. It means that I got old H. H.—Henry Hooper—where the hair is short and he's passing."

"Suffering giraffes!" gasped Windy Bill. "Was that the scared little rabbit that wept all them salt tears over at the depot? What brand of hickory did you feed him, Sandy?"

I silently handed him the bottle.

"Soothing syrup—my God!" said Windy in husked tones.

I annexed the remainder of that bottle of soothing syrup; I went to Sol Levi and easily procured delivery of the other five. I was positively sure that another dose would be needed. The ex-jockey swallowed a hasty meal and had immediate relief. I found him lying fully clothed sound asleep across the bed. I robbed him of his pistol and took it home, across the narrow hall and left both doors open. Brower and myself were the only occupants of the second floor.

I went to bed and to a sound sleep; but I set my mind like an alarm clock, so that the slightest move from the other room would fetch me broad awake.

Brower was still dead to the world when I slipped out at 6 o'clock to meet the eastbound train.

The bag—a small black Gladstone—was aboard in charge of the bag-gageman. I had no great difficulty in getting it from my friend, the station agent. Had he not seen me herding the loosed stranger? I secreted the black bag with the five full bottles of soothing syrup, slipped the half-emptied bottle in my pocket and returned to the hotel.

Brower came downstairs. He passed thru the offices and into the dining room where he drank several cups of coffee. Thence he passed down the street toward Sol Levi. He emerged rather hurriedly and slanted across to the station.

HER OWN CAREER

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

THE WEDDING

The day of the wedding dawned clear and beautiful. The two girls awoke with laughter on their lips to greet the first rays of the sun that brought with it a radiant cheerfulness and a realization that this was the day of days.

"Up, lazy bride, up and stirring," called Gwenda from her room to her cousin.

A protest was the only answer and she finally made her way into where Fern lay among her pillows, warm and lazy.

"Blackmail, eh?" "Blackmail nothing!" he shouted. "It ain't blackmail to take away what don't belong to a man at all!" "What don't belong to him?"

"Nothing. Not a damn thing except his money. This ranch. The oil wells in California. The cattle. That was the agreement with his partner when they split. And I've got the agreement. Now what you got to say?"

"Say! Why, it's loco! Why doesn't the pardner raise a row?"

"He's dead."

"His heirs, then."

"He hasn't got but one heir — his daughter. Nobody knows but old H. H.—and me." But his mood was passing.

Fern looked at herself and blushed with joy at her own reflection in the mirror. "Do you think that Fedya will like me in this dress, the scene into a veritable fairy bower. Gwenda, in palest coral pink,

FRANCE IS GIVEN WARNING

Will Fall Because of Immorality, Senator Declares

LIKENED TO ROMAN EMPIRE

Solon Attacks Stage and Styles in Paris Debate

(By NEWTON C. PARKE.)

PARIS.—(International News Service)—The French Republic will fall as the Roman Empire fell unless the Government makes an active campaign against immorality on the stage in the literature of the day and in styles of women's clothing. Senator Lamarzelle warned the French Senate during a debate on public morals that lasted more than two hours.

Even France's great art museums are becoming infected, the Senator charged. He alleged that rooms formerly given over to the display of priceless tapestries are now filled with modern paintings in the nude.

Senator de Lamarzelle's outburst came in the midst of a discussion of a law to prevent the distribution of birth-control propaganda. He declared the Government might take far more effective steps to prevent depopulation by inculcating better morals.

"I want to ask what the government has done to prevent the sale of licentious literature," said the Senator. "I want to know what steps have been taken to prevent the production on the stage of immoral spectacles and plays that are ruining the youth of France, and what the Government has done to prevent immoral displays by underdressed women in the very streets, the subways and the street cars.

NUDITY IS THEME.

"Let me cite one review now appearing at the biggest arts music hall, 'L'Amour en Folie.' Here is the programme as it is advertised in large posters all over Paris: 'Competition of Nude Backs; 'The Beautiful Crucified Girls; 'The Fan of Women's Bodies; 'Pushing to the Utmost Limit; 'Audacity in Production.'

"Here is a second example—a piece called 'Mais les hommes n'en savent rien,' so scandalous that one newspaper critic declared it was impossible for him to review it and another wrote for his newspaper that the text was so bad that he must describe it in Greek. I had a translation made from the Greek and found it to be a description of monstrous vices.

"Another fifty piece played 200 consecutive nights in Paris and when the Mayor of a town in the provinces was asked to stop it he replied that he could not see his way fit to act since the arts police had permitted the performance. This same Mayor permitted lewd pictures, advertising the play to be posted all over town, even on the walls of a young girls' school.

DEMORALIZING POSTERS.

"Return to Paris. Before my door, on a column across the street, is another theatre advertisement, representing a woman nearly nude. The title of the piece is unspeakable. All over Paris I see another poster of a show entitled: 'Oh, No—Not Entirely Nude,' with a life-sized picture of a woman wearing only a pair of stockings. It appears that a nude woman may appear on the stage in Paris without shocking public sense of shame so long as she wears a single fragment of cloth or a jewel.

"But it is not necessary to go to Piper's.

the theatre. Certain things may be seen in public places, in the streets, in the subway, in the automobiles that the police regard with complacent eyes. There is the danger of the theatre, the exploitation of vice descends into the streets and finds its way into public morals. Young boys and young girls see these things and you can readily understand the lesson they draw from them."

Replying to Senator de Lamarzelle, the Minister of Interior recalled that the perfects of police had full powers to suppress immoral plays and that as a result of the Senator's protest a few months ago certain immoral productions were withdrawn and others were altered. He promised, however, to call another meeting of the prefects and urge a closer supervision of Paris theatres and theatrical posters.

See us for good potatoes—Piper's.

DIDN'T ENJOY HEARTY MEAL IN THREE YEARS

I Believe I'm the Happiest Woman In Town," Says Mrs. Miller Since Health Was Restored by Tanlac

tion, for I didn't have strength enough to sweep. In fact I had to spend a great deal of my time in bed. I took medicine until I actually hated the sight of a bottle but nothing helped me and I kept getting worse until I was just a nervous wreck.

"But I had not finished my second bottle of Tanlac before there was all the difference in the world in my condition, and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. My appetite is so good that, honestly, I am almost ashamed to eat as much as I want, and everything agrees with me perfectly. My nerves are steady, no kind of noise bothers me and I am so strong and well my housework is more like recreation than work. In fact, I just can't begin to tell all the good Tanlac has done me. I never in my life felt equal.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," explained Mrs. Miller, "I was so nervous I couldn't hold a spoon to my lips to take a dose without spilling some of it. For three years I had not known what it was to enjoy a meal. Always after eating I had a heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach and just felt miserable. To do my housework was out of the question.

"I just believe I am the happiest woman in town," said Mrs. Jennie M. Miller, 24 Maxine Place, East Akron, Ohio, in relating her experience with Tanlac.

You will make money by doing so. Perhaps you have not painted in the past five years because of the high cost of quality paint.

Jonston's Thrift Paint

Is the most practical and durable paint made and sold these modern times. Made according to the Old Master Painter's formula of lead and zinc, the necessary colors to produce the different shades, plus a sufficient quantity of inert ingredients—combined with pure linseed oil and dryers to insure long wearing satisfying results.

Any other high grade paint of Thrift Paint quality will cost you $3.50 to $4.00 per gallon. On Saturday, one day only, we will sell you Thrift Paint (which wears from two to three years longer than the average) at a price which SAVES YOU $1.00 TO $1.50 PER GALLON.

Thrift Paint Is a Pure Linseed Oil Paint

Bring the measurements of your house—width, length and height; we will tell you the quantity required and the cost. Deposit one-fourth of the cost and the material will be held for you, subject to your orders until June 16th.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Down in a Missouri town where a colored Baptist church was a goaded institution there had been many new converts at the result of a re-baptism which had just closed. On the day set for the "baptizin'" the again among their friends, but one liver had been frozen over. There of overweight slipped from his were those among the converts, and grasp and was swept away by the their close friends who favored the murky current beneath. Always in command of the situation the person had lowered a number of candidates through the hole in the ice and landed them safely to another date, but the person had son raised his eyes heavenward set his mind. He was the leader saying, "The Lord hath given the flock, a fact which involved Lo'd taketh away" hand me down his being the driver also. A hole another niggard."

was cut in the ice and the long line of shivering colored converts stood waiting their turn. As the hymns were sung to ease the situation somewhat, the biting north wind blew across the ice.

The "professors" of cheap dancing academies in the tendon are now advertising lessons in toddling. One sends out a circular which reads, "Learn to dance the toddle! Cleopatra invented it and that was the way she ensnared Napoleon."
